- On 3 January 1948 the first session of a conference concerned with the exploitation of gold mines in Manchuria was held in the Chinese Communist Political Affairs Commission building at Ichouchieh (義州街), Harbin. The nineteen persons attending the session were Zhuravlev, head of the Chungchang Railway Administration; four Soviet directors of the Chungchang Railway Administration; and 14 Chinese Communists. It was resolved that a portion of the capital would be advanced by the USSR, and that Soviet advisers would be engaged in opening and operating the mines. The initial work will be superintended by Soviet laborers.
 - The gold mines are in the Heiho (127-28,50-15) and Koho (122-21,53-26) areas and are twelve in number:

Hsiaopeikou	(120-45,53-06)
Sanshiherhchan	(121-49,53-09)
Chinmankou	(120-39,52-59)
